Eight elephants, four per band. The routine: pick two crayons, color the body first, ears second, trunk third, background last — one elephant per sitting.

Adult: tape the sheet corners down so it stops sliding, and stay in the room while the crayon box is out. Ages 4-6 who cut the frame out use blunt-tip scissors, with an adult, close enough to act. One elephant per sitting — the sheet goes on the stack finished or not.

More to fill, same herd. Ages 4-6 swap the second crayon after the first pass — a bow, a flower, a butterfly, a friend.

The parade

A finished elephant joins a line along the wall or the doorframe, one beside the next, facing the same way.

Ages 4-6 cut the elephant out of its dashed frame and tape it up themselves; a two-year-old hands it to you and points at the spot.

Adult: name the parts as the crayon lands on them — trunk, ears, tusks, legs, tail. An adult stays in the room while the crayon box is out, and an adult, close enough to act, sits with any scissor round.
