Adult: tape the page corners down so it stops sliding, and stay in the room while the crayon box is out — an adult, close enough to act.

Four shapes with more to fill. Ages 4-6 keep one color for the reindeer head and a second for the antlers — two colors per shape.

The window display

A finished shape comes out of its frame and goes to the window: tape the shapes along the glass, one row a week, until the row of eight is complete.

Ages 4-6 do the choosing and the placing; a two-year-old hands each shape up, one at a time. Cut-outs for a card need the scissors in adult hands.

Adult: the tape, the window ledge and the scissors stay in adult hands, and an adult stays in the room while the crayon box is out — close enough to act.
